

We were never able to pay our dedicated and talented cast and crew more than an honorarium, and sometimes not even that. While in San Francisco — where we had our own studio for a while — to help fill the gap, we invented our own money which recipients could use to buy items in the studio thrift store (grot shop), rent studio time, or pay for classes.

